Dear Hardrock 100 1993 Participant:

Enclosed are the detailed results of the 1993 Hardrock 100 Mountain Run. Hopefully these details will help you plan have an even more enjoyable run next year or sometime in the future.

A few words of explanation about the result sheets, the first three giving the exact same results in different formats:

1. Results in Time of Day. These are clock times for arrival and departure as recorded at the various aid stations. Since the run occurred on three different calendar days you may have to calculate a bit to figure out which day the time occurred.
2. Elapsed Time from the Start. This is the traditional times in hours and minutes from the starting time of 6:00 on Friday for arrival and departure at each aid station.
3. Time in Segments. The column listed Seg gives the time in hours and minutes from the time of leaving the last aid station until arrival at the next. In other words, actual time spent on the course between aid stations. The stay time is the time in hours and minutes spent at that aid station.
4. Finishers. This table shows finish time in hours and minutes for each finisher plus the sum of the segment times. The difference between the finish time and total segment times is the total time spent in aid stations during the run.

I hope to see all you back in the San Juans in the future.
